

Verify Professional Certifications & Licenses Instantly

Fraud has become a significant and costly problem for employers who hire candidates that falsely claim certifications. How extensive is the problem?

US employers lose more than $660 billion annually to occupational fraud, according to the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners.

50-80% of all resumes contain misleading or false information, such as academic degrees or professional certifications. All industries are negatively affected by fraud, including healthcare, finance, information technology and manufacturing.

The consequences to an organization when a candidate or employee misrepresents his certification or license status can be enormous. The risk ranges from embarrassment and compromised business performance to declining market value and civil and criminal liability.

The Clearinghouse's certification and license verification service enables you to make timely and well-informed hiring, promotion and compensation decisions. With our reliable and authenticated verifications you can have confidence that candidates possess the current certifications they need to perform their jobs.
